OUR MS VEENDAM CUBA & WESTERN CARIBBEAN ITINERARY:

DAY	PORT-OF-CALL	ARR.	DEP.
1	Depart Boston on a flight to Ft. Lauderdale (poss. Intermediate stop). Transfer to the ms Veendam and depart.	-	4:00 pm
2	Havana, Cuba – While most Americans have never been there, the very word Havana still evokes a set of specific images—candy-colored vintage cars pattering along picturesque streets; smiling musicians playing familiar tropical tunes whose rhythms are so infectious that nearly everyone is seduced into dancing; cigar-smoking and rum-sipping locals against a palm-fringed background. There’s a reason these have become the stereotypical visual symbols of Cuba’s capital city, but dive beneath the surface and you’ll find so much more: world-class sports matches, centuries-old historic sites and even a Chinatown in midst of a cultural revival. And while Havana may not be a global culinary capital (for the moment, at least), you can find plenty of delicious dishes served in friendly casual restaurants run out of private homes or in more-upscale spots with city and water views. As for shopping, you’ll definitely be able to purchase unique souvenirs to take home, from photo books about Cuban culture sold at the island’s only English-language bookstore to a hand-blended perfume or cologne packaged in a bottle that looks like a throwback to another era.	8:00 AM	IN PORT
3	Havana, Cuba – Our ship continues to stay in Havana so we can continue to enjoy the nightlife in this amazing city. The rest of the day is at sea to enjoy our beautiful ship.	-	2:00 AM
4	Cienfuegos, Cuba – A port city on Cuba’s southern coast, Cienfuegos has played an important role in Cuba’s history since it was founded in 1819, when the island was still Spanish territory, and today it remains one of the country’s important commercial centers—a transit point for coffee, sugarcane and tobacco. It has both welcomed and resisted incursions from various people and interests over the past two centuries. Both as the heart of Cuba’s sugar industry and as the birthplace of famous Cubans past and present, such as singer Benny Moré and baseball stars José Abreu and Yasiel Puig, the city looms large in Cuban consciousness, but it isn’t always on visitors’ itineraries, which is a shame. Cienfuegos boasts numerous attractions that give a fuller, more complex view of Cuban life, culture and history. This fact was recognized by UNESCO in 2005, when the organization inscribed the old center of Cienfuegos, with its many stately neoclassical buildings and “harmonious overall townscape” (to quote UNESCO), onto its World Heritage List.	8:00 AM	5:00 PM

5	Ocho Rios, Jamaica – In the last century, the north coast was a favorite of literary and Hollywood figures from Noël Coward to Errol Flynn. The first Bond film, Dr. No , was shot here, while creator Ian Fleming lived near Ochi at his Goldeneye estate. Visitors to Jamaica today are likely to think of reggae first, of course, and Bob Marley was born right here in the St. Ann Parish. The Ocho Rios Jazz Festival, held at various venues in May and June, is a big draw as well. The area near Ochi has seen significant upgrades to its ports and roads in recent years, and getting around to check out this part of Jamaica is much easier than it was in the past. The nearby region is one of the island's finest for nature hikes among all the plants that provide the spices and fruits that go into making Jamaican cooking so outrageously delicious.	10:00 AM	5:00 PM
6	Georgetown, Cayman Islands – The Cayman Islands have everything you would want from a Caribbean destination—warm breezes, clear seas and a laid-back attitude—but the archipelago also has an exciting culinary scene. Between the celebrity chefs who've set up shop on Grand Cayman and the 135 or so resident nationalities that have helped season the island's giant melting pot, this is, hands down, one of the best places to eat in the Caribbean. In and around the Cayman Islands' capital, you'll find such an amazing array of culinary offerings, you'll fear for the future of any buttons, snaps or hooks on your waistband. And that's where the island's other chief pleasures come in: There's enough walking (whether along the fabled Seven Mile Beach, around historic sites or through lush gardens) as well as stunning swimming, snorkeling and diving.	8:00 AM	5:00 PM
7	At Sea	-	-
8	Arrive in Ft. Lauderdale and disembark. Transfer to the airport for your return flight to Boston (poss. intermediate stop).	7:00 am	-
